MONEY SMASH IN ROME HITS BIG ITALIAN BANK IN U. S.

New York Trust Company With Huge Deposits Closes Its Doors

RUNS ARE BEGUN

Moratorium Is Declared At Rome—Police Out To Check Mob

(Reuters Service)

Rome, Dec. 29.—The Banca Italiana Disconto has suspended payment. The Italian Government has declared a partial moratorium with the object of dealing with the situation. Crowds of people are thronging the premises, which are protected by police.

CLOSING DOORS

New York, Dec. 29.—The Italian Disconto Trust Company with deposits amounting to $15,000,000 has closed its doors following a run by depositors. The bank is the correspondent of the Banca Italiana Disconto, which an earlier report mentioned as having suspended payment.

VIEWS IN ROME

Rome, Dec. 29.—Newspapers here state that there is no fear that the suspension of the Banca Italiana Disconto will adversely affect other big banks. It is stated that the Government, besides granting a moratorium, has taken steps to guarantee the creditors of the banks, and to place it eventually in a more favorable position.

NO EFFECT HERE

Private dispatches received in banking circles here yesterday also told of the suspension of the Banca Italiana Disconto and bankers, while agreed that it could in no way affect local business, expressed the opinion that the development may bring serious consequences in Italy and in various cities elsewhere where the institution is more of a financial factor.

The Banca Italiana Disconto does not enter into the Far Eastern field to any appreciable extent. It was said yesterday by officials of the Asia Banking Corporation, the local correspondents, and no effects of the suspension will be felt here.

The bank's difficulties, local financial men say, were in no way unexpected and are the natural aftermath of economic conditions in Italy brought about by the war. The Banca Italiana Disconto was rated as third most important institution of its kind in the country, with offices in practically all of the cities and larger towns and with branches throughout the continent and agencies in many countries.

Youngest Girl Ever Held For Murder In New York City

MISS Gussie Humann, twenty-one-year-old, Brooklyn, N. Y. girl, photographed in her cell in the Long Island City Jail, where she is awaiting trial for the murder of Harry D. Garbe, her former sweetheart. Miss Humann, one of the youngest girls ever accused of first degree murder in New York, is charged with having lured young Garbe to his death on the night of October 27. He was shot while walking through a lonely street. Just before his death he told the police that "Gussie is responsible." The girl and Joseph Libasci, twenty-one, were arrested. Libasci is accused of having done the shooting. Both deny having had any part in the slaying.

THREE RUSSIANS SENTENCED FOR THEFT OF SILK

The four Russians, three women and a man, arrested in the Dah Luen silk shop a week ago and charged with being members of an organized gang of shoplifters, appeared in the Mixed Court yesterday before Assessor Blackburn and Magistrate Li when two of the women and the man received jail sentences.

The four were arrested on December 21 when a shop assistant detected one of the women, Marie Pouderskaya, in the act of concealing two rolls of silk in her dress. She pleaded guilty, through her attorney, Mr. J. E. Lemiere, and asked for leniency on the grounds that her husband had deserted her and she had no means of support. Police investigation, however, showed that she has a record and has previously served time and she was sentenced to one year's imprisonment and subsequent expulsion from the Settlement.

The male member of the quartette, Matthias Zergel, 46 Range Road, was charged not only with being concerned in the Dah Luen thefts but also with having stolen silk from the Dan Lun, Laou Kai Fook, Dah Zung and Laou Kiu Chwang shops. Twelve pieces of silk, each of from three to six yards' length, were found in his rooms by Detective Sergeant McDermott after Zergel had been arrested. The sentence in his case was six months and expulsion, this conviction being that of an accomplice in the Dah Luen robbery—the other charges falling on the evidence shown.

Ethel Stavberg, who was charged with being an accomplice, was sentenced to three months in jail to be followed by expulsion, and the fourth of the defendants, Vera Keeko, a young girl, was discharged. All of the women, according to the testimony, came to Shanghai from Tientsin on the day before they were arrested and were living in a Russian boarding house at 10 Pearson Road.

CHINA'S BEST XI'S MEET IN GRID TITLE PLAY TODAY

Peking Marines Oppose Shanghai On Race Course Grounds

TO START AT 2.45

U. S. Consul-General Cunningham To Blow First Whistle

The championship of China, among teams that play the well known game of American Football, will be decided this afternoon on the Widow's Monument field at the Race Course when the tight and husky and speedy machine developed by Coach Tenney from the rookie candidates of the Legation Marine Guard at Peking meets Shanghai, a team of untied strength and untold possibilities.

The gridiron battle will be one of great interest to football fans. The situation is such: Coach Tenney, a star of a former Brown University eleven developed his Marine team on an absolutely disciplinary basis. The boys were "in the army," the coach is their captain: They had to learn the game.

They trained and drilled and practiced and studied, perhaps at first under unheard protest, as soldiers, even Marines will, but when they began to see that they were, being taught and drilled well, they got into the game, and the result is a wonder team, of but one year's training, working together like a West Point squad, wise on everything football, and ready to tackle the world.

They will oppose all eleven of individual players, many of them stars of the first water, as good even as Coach (Capt.) Tenney himself, or better, yet, lacking the machine-like drilling, and training, and practice of the Marines, and without the fine discipline learned only in the Army. The game will be a test between a young well-trained eleven, which may be classed with the average well drilled freshman eleven of a medium sized school, and a gang of husky, older veterans, sans the Army drill.

TEAMS EVENLY MATCHED There is little to choose between the two teams. Peking has sent a team here which is husky, fast and in excellent condition. Shanghai has an eleven of experienced men, seven of whom have won honors on college football fields in the United States. Both aggregations have an excellent assortment of plays and both are adept at the overhead game.

With Neprud and Tinkham on the ends, Shanghai is well equipped for forward passing and Maloney hurls the leather with speed and accuracy. Shanghai will start Tinkham and Neprud as ends, Hirsch and Marsden as tackles, Smith and (Reuters Service) Alexandria, Dec. 29.—Cabmen here went on strike today for political purposes.

Stars Of Marines' Football Machine

THE man in the center was figured up until yesterday as one of the visitors' strongest bets for breaking up the Shanghai offense and for gathering up Marine passes. Unfortunately he suffered a severe injury in yesterday's practice when he fell: easily on a ball, he strained a ligament in his shoulder. He may not play today. Harris may fill his first line position.

Lient, Fricke, in the upper left hand corner is well known in Shanghai, as captain of one of last summer's navy baseball teams, a star player on the Washington Black Sox team, and as the man who relieved Nelms in the Peking-Tientsin games for the championship of North China, when Nelms was invalided to the Rockefeller hospital.

Ryckman, the fullback in the upper right is counted upon today to bear the brunt of the Marine line attack, as well as doing the bulk of the punting and passing. Hiltbrand, in the lower left hand corner has been credited often as the playing brains of the team. Finger, the guard, is a mountain of strength in defense.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO AID RED CROSS IN ANNUAL DRIVE

While many responses are being received to the circular letters issued by the American Red Cross in its campaign for new members and for funds, a special effort to stimulate interest in the annual Roll Call is to be carried into effect by the American Woman's Club.

What part the Club will play in the campaign has not yet been definitely determined, but it is understood that teams of canvassers for members and for funds to carry on local relief work will be appointed to call on American residents. The whole question will be dealt with at a meeting of the club to be held at the Carlton on Tuesday afternoon.

The Roll Call is the annual drive of the organization to gain new members and to gain funds for carrying out local relief work, funds which are now depleted.

Here's another example of what the Red Cross is doing for China: By WES WILLIAMS

Swindlers in China do not have to spend any time planning how they can get around "blue sky laws" for there are none in this country. Occasionally, however, they run up against unforeseen difficulties.

In April, 1921, the Shanghai Motors Company of Shanghai entered into an agreement with a Washington corporation with headquarters in Vancouver to purchase 150 one and one-half ton motor trucks a month, for a period of twenty two months at $2,800 gold per truck, less 30 percent, the regular dealers discount. This contract received a great deal of publicity in western Canada and the United States for the reason that it was the largest motor truck deal ever put through for China.

The first evidence of there being a nigger in the wood-pile is that the Shanghai Motors Company of Shanghai, China, is not the Shanghai Motors Corporation of 112 Szechuen Road, a bona fides concern of good reputation. No one in China knew of the former. People in America were far enough away not to mark the fine distinction in names and naturally thought it was the latter concern which had made this enormous contract. As a matter of fact the promoters of the first mentioned company had never been in China. The whole scheme

Two New Years, But Oh! How Different They Are

By Elsie McCormick

New Year was invented to give people an excuse for sending cards to those whom they overlooked at Christmas. As a holiday, New Year is hardly a hundred percent success. There is something about it that is suggestive of the third helping of plum pudding, or the last row of chocolates in the box, or the fifth dance in succession with the same partner, or the second movie show in one day, or anything else that stands for staidness and satiety. If it wasn't for its one redeeming tendency, there would be a general petition to shift it over to the first day in spring when everybody wants to go fishing, or make it a moveable feast to fall on the day after a person acquires a black eye about which he doesn't want to answer questions.

As a holiday, New Year offers little beyond another turkey dinner for those who already feel a tendency to nestle down beside a cranberry bush and await a garnishing of mushrooms. It is supposed to be the occasion for the formal disrobing of the Christmas tree, but the baby always cries when the first hook is unfashioned on the tree's attire and so it stays up until it loses so much of its girlish beauty that even the housewife is moved to protest.

T. & J. ARE RUBY TWINS As a face-saver, however, New Year deserves to rank with the leading massage creams. It is for a person with a poor memory what a new trial is to a lady defendant with some black-bordered handkerchiefs and a chance to face the jury-box. It is an opportunity to clear his soul of sins of omission until the next family birthday rolls around. It is also famous as the calling day of those two well-known artists, Mearns, Tom and Jerry, who do so much each year toward painting the town red.

The Chinese New Year, the initial day of which falls on January twenty-eighth this year, is conducted along somewhat different lines. Although the issue is covered over by copious pastings of red paper, the central idea is a slaughter of the innocents. Thousands of little Bills, none over a year old, have their lives terminated on that day, because if any of them continue in existence, they bring more shame on their foster-parents than a dishonorable discharge from the hoose-gow.

ROB PETER; PAY PAUL As a result, the Knights of the Three Balls do a business as flourishing as an opera-glass vendor at a Ruth St. Denis matinee; temple fairs and curio stores reduce their prices to a mere shadow of their former selves; the tailor comes around for a settlement long before the usual Number One day; the servants ask for an advance on their wages to meet the expenses of a few little evenings at mah-jongg; and loose change around the house vanishes like a chicken that has strayed into a colored camp-meeting.

Unfortunately for creditors, there is no corresponding holiday in the Western calendar. We have heard of Old Settlers' Day in some of the Rocky Mountain states, but as far as we know, it hasn't much to do with that kind of settling. Perhaps Memorial Day could be made the occasion for little memorials to constant debtors, though we fear that the aforesaid debtors would merely seize upon Admission Day for admitting that they couldn't make good.

HEADS TO EARLY WORM Shoppers often profit by the Chinese shopkeeper's belief that if he fails to sell something to his first customer after the New Year holiday, he will have bad loss for twelve cycles of the moon. A foreigner we knew in Canton secured a valuable necklace for about a fifth of its rightful price by seeing to it that he was the first customer in the shop on

CONFERENCE ADMITS FAILURE TO AGREE ON CUTS IN SUBMARINES

Admitted By Delegations That Efforts To Meet Upon Policy Of Limitation Definitely Have Been Abandoned Due To Stand Taken In Demands That Have Been Made By France

GENERAL DISAPPOINTMENT IS VOICED

All Interests Now Think That Powers Will Have To Extend All Facilities In Construction Of Undersea Craft To Meet French Program

(Special To The China Press)

Washington, Dec. 29.—Efforts to agree on a policy of limitation of submarines have been definitely abandoned, according to information obtained at the headquarters of the various delegations at the disarmament conference here today.

France has announced that she will not deviate from her demand for 331,000 tons of auxiliaries and 90,000 tons of submarines.

Disappointment over the stand taken by the French is being expressed on all sides, Americans, Japanese and Italians joining in deploring this action, which, it is felt, will in a great measure offset the good work accomplished by the conference in obtaining consent to a program of limitation of construction of capital ships.

In discussing the matter before the session of the naval committee, Mr. Balfour declared that the French program was a menace to the security of Great Britain. All sides are now agreed that not only the British, but the Italians and the Americans as well will be forced to extend themselves in the construction of submarines and auxiliaries in order to keep pace with the French program.

JAPAN TO CUT ARMY

(Trans-Pacific News Service Exclusive To The China Press) Tokio, Dec. 28.—Japan is preparing a comprehensive scheme of army reorganization featuring a reduction of the standing army by one-sixth within four years, beginning in 1923, according to the Tokio Nichi Nichi.

The scheme provides for the reduction of the army from its present strength of 400,000 to 250,000 the first reduction to be made under the 1923 budget.

The Nichi Nichi states, however, that the purpose of the authorities is not necessarily to decrease the strength of Japan's army, but rather to increase its effectiveness by using the funds saved on personnel in providing more modern weapons and new training schools and increasing the efficiency of the nation's munitions factories.

The Nichi Nichi quotes high army authorities to the effect that the development of munitions has not kept pace with the increase in the army, and the new plans aim to give the nation more modern equipment, especially as regards machine guns, tanks, and anti-aircraft guns. The naval authorities are working out plans aimed to prevent the collapse of the shipbuilding industry when the construction of capital ships ends a few months hence. Japan aims to do this by redistributing her contracts for auxiliary craft

BUILDING GOES ON The naval authorities state that the Hughes proposals will permit Japan to complete practically her entire auxiliary program under the eight-eight scheme of building at least 200,000 tons of cruisers and destroyers alone within eight years. The present tonnage of these vessels is below the 270,000 tons allowed under the Hughes proposals, and all but 100,000 tons are obsolete and immediately replaceable according to the Hughes terms. Others will be obsolete within a few years.

The program calls for the completion of the following vessels: Four first-class cruisers, fifteen light cruisers, sixty destroyers, of all classes, in addition to the ships already commissioned under the eight-eight program. The contracts for the construction of vessels, the naval authorities are confident, will prevent any considerable loss of efficiency in Japan's shipbuilding yards, private as well as naval arsenals.

There is an anomaly in the recent laying of the keels of the two battle cruisers, Atago and Takao, each 44,000 tons, Japan now has six capital ships under construction, whereas there were only four when the Hughes proposals were made. The naval authorities explain that it is impossible to cancel the contracts for this construction, since both the Takao and the Atago are being built in private yards, the former in the Mitsui Bishi yards at Nagasaki, and the latter in the Kawasaki dockyard at Kobe.

WILL NOT PUSH WORK It is stated that there is no plan in contemplation for pushing the work on these two and the four other capital ships now under construction, the super-

Admirals Kato and Tosa and the battleships Amagi and Amagi, but the work will be permitted to continue on a reduced schedule until the final instructions are received from Admiral Baron Kato at Washington.

Naval authorities and the press are supporting the stand of the Japanese delegation in the matter of submarines, the former pointing out that Japan needs the submarine as a defensive weapon while its distance from other powers obviates the possibility of Japan's undersea flotillas becoming an offensive menace to any nation. Many of the most influential newspapers are urging that Japan hold out for submarine equality with Britain and America.

Masanori Ito, Washington correspondent for the Jiji Shimpo cables urging the Japanese nation to cease bickering over "minor issues" such as the method of payment for the Shantung Railway. He says that Japan is now one of the three great powers but haggles like the smallest of nations. He asserts that the gain in the good opinion of the world resulting from generous, sweeping concessions to China in the matter of Shantung, which is after all only a minor issue, would more than repay the cost of such concessions.

AN INSPIRED LOOK
It is pointed out that the Japanese hold on Shantung robs China of her chief trading point and would enable Japan to make impregnable her position in Manchuria. His cable wears an inspired look and may portend new concessions on the part of the Japanese delegation.

From official sources statements are emanating to the effect that Japan does not accept the interpretation of the quadruple entente as covering Japan proper. It is stated that such an interpretation adversely affects Japan's sovereignty and dignity as a great power since the treaty does not affect the homeland of any other of the four parties.

RAP FRENCH STAND
(U. S. Navy Radio Through Reuter)
Washington, Dec. 28.—It is reported that Mr. Hughes and Mr. Balfour responded to M. Sarraut's declaration in language, which, while diplomatic, struck hard at the French position. One delegate said that Mr. Hughes and Mr. Balfour stated they "deplored" the French attitude.

ADOPT ROOT PLAN
(Reuter's Service)
Washington, Dec. 29.—The Full Naval Committee today adopted in principle Mr. Elhan Root's first resolution providing for the observance of well-recognized principles of international law by submarines.

The British delegates in discussing Mr. Root's second resolution, while recognising the practical impossibility of using submarines as commerce destroyers, declared that they would accept it only on the understanding that the resolution should become effective upon its adoption by the five great Powers without awaiting the assent of other nations.

HANIHARA SPEAKS
Washington, Dec. 30.—Mr. Hanihara, in the earlier submarine limitation discussion, said that the Japanese Delegation thought it would be a misfortune if they failed to come to an agreement as regards the limitation of auxiliary and combatant craft.

Their position was not to claim freedom in the building of such, but, in main, to support the tonnage in this respect as provided in the original American proposal, in order that an agreement might be reached on that basis and the full and final success of the Conference assured.

DEPLORE FRENCH STAND
(Reuter's Service)
London, Dec. 29.—Keen disappointment and even some resentment is expressed in the United States and Britain at the French adherence to the claim for 90,000 tons of submarines. It is stated that both Mr. Balfour and Mr. Hughes, replying to M. Sarraut, deplored the French attitude.

The British, Japanese and Italian delegates intimated that this involves the abandonment of the proposed limitations upon their construction of submarines and it seems admitted that the question cannot be re-opened at any rate by the present Conference. It is also calculated to lead to considerable building of anti-submarine craft.

It is suggested in some quarters that the motive of France

Lord Northcliffe Entertains Japanese Journalists

Lord Northcliffe, the famous British newspaper editor, was the host of a novel banquet at the Maple Club, Tokio, Japan. He gave the dinner to the newspaper men of that city, both Japanese and foreign, and they all enjoyed the repast of Japanese food, which was eaten in native style, with chopsticks. Lord Northcliffe, shown in the center, appears to be looking for a few points on the art of eating with chopsticks. On the left is R.

Murayama, former President of Osaka, and Tokio Asahis, two of Japan's leading papers often referred to as "The Times of the Orient." On Lord Northcliffe's right is J. N. Pennington, of the Far Eastern Review.

is to retain the question of submarines as a bargaining factor in the settlement of British and French differences. Meanwhile there is no indication whatever that the capital ship agreement will be affected.

American observers, however, fear lest the recent talk of future gatherings should incline Japan and China to delay settlement between themselves.

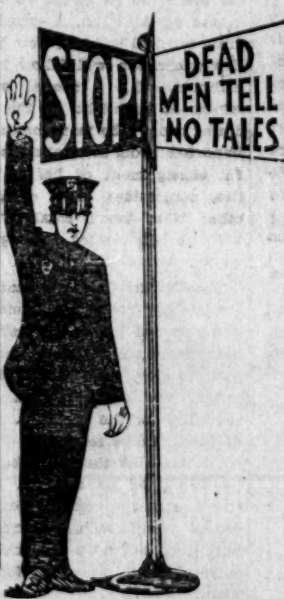

It is pointed out by Washington that the Shantung question is a test of the sincerity of Japan's liberal protestations and the ability of the Chinese leaders to distinguish between dreams and realities. An immediate settlement would give a badly-needed impetus to the composing of other difficulties and could not fail to have the happiest effect on American opinion, while a postponement would inevitably raise suspicion and distrust.

It is stated that the Japanese Delegation has received instructions from Tokio not to make further concessions regarding Shantung. It still remains to be seen what the mediation of Mr. Hughes and Mr. Balfour can do, but for the moment they are occupied with the events of the Naval Committee.

CONFERS WITH HARDING
Washington, Dec. 29.—Before attending today's session of the Naval Committee, Mr. Hughes conferred at length with President Harding at the White House.

ALL DISSATISFIED
Washington, Dec. 29.—Despite the assurance of M. Sarraut that the French demands were based on the conception of the true needs of France and her colonies, succeeding speakers at yesterday's meeting did not conceal their dissatisfaction with regard to the French stand on the submarine question.

Mr. Balfour declared that an inferior military Power with more ships could never seriously impel a superior military Power. On the other hand with the largest submarine fleet in the world, which would be powerful only for the destruction of commerce, France would be a great menace to British security. Britain was unable, he said, to look with indifference on the situation thus

1,500 POOR KIDS ARE MADE HAPPY BY "BEACH" FUND

Fifteen hundred kiddies from the "Leach," the village of Shanghai's very poor which fringes the Settlement boundary off North Szechuen Road, were made happy yesterday afternoon when presents were distributed among them at Grace Baptist Church.

Mr. J. C. Clark, treasurer of the fund contributed for the purpose by residents in the North Szechuen and Dixwell Roads district and by readers of THE CHINA PRESS and THE EVENING STAR, was in charge of the distribution, aided by D. W. W. Peter and several scores of assistants, including students of Ming Jang School and Boy Scouts.

The youngsters began to gather before the church grounds at about 2 o'clock and though the crowd was big and lively it was handled without the least difficulty by one Sikh and one Chinese policeman. The children passed into the grounds through three gates, attended by twenty-five boys of the Ming Jang School, admission being by ticket. Those who didn't have tickets were finished with them as they passed in.

The program began with 1,200 kiddies gathered in the church yard. Christmas stories were told, illustrated with big posters.

Then the children from the poor school entertained with songs and dances, both very well done. Following this the assemblage filed through the gate and each little visitor exchanged his or her ticket for a present, the same consisting of candy, a half-dozen glass marbles, a cake of soap and an orange, wrapped up in a towel.

Forty Boy Scouts from the Kwang Tsau School assisted in maintaining order and in distributing the packages, and though it was sometimes tried there were none of the youngsters who succeeded in getting more than his share. One old lady who had brought in a small child was found by the Scouts to be concealing six packages in her skirt, and the extra five were reclaimed and issued to rightful claimants.

When it was all over it was found that there were still 200 presents on hand and these were sent over to a free school in a village which had not been included in the original program.

All those who contributed to this Yuletide fund are hereby assured that it was more than well worth the doing and if each contributor could have been on hand to take note of the smiling faces of that animated throng there would be a vote to raise another fund and find another poor village.

Since the last acknowledgment was made the following contributions to the fund have been received:

Girl Hikes Alone Across The Continent To Secure A Degree In New York City

Covering the long, long trail, by way of the railroad track, to her goal, New York City, the greatest city in the world, Miss Theresa Thromp, of Ferndale, Washington, has arrived in New York. Miss Thromp hiked her way across the continent alone, to the Metropolitan city, in order to attend Columbia University where she will study for a doctor's degree in philosophy. The above photographs of Miss Thromp typify part of her daily routine on her walk. We see her getting food for breakfast, a succulent trout from an icy brook, then washing up at a roadside brook. She cooks her meals on a fire, and then, tramp, tramp, she continues along the railroad tracks to her destination.

Tuesday's Concert

BY GERALD ZALSMAN

The symphony concert on Tuesday evening will be wholly devoted to three of Tschalkowsky's compositions. We heard a little time ago a splendid performance of the Fourth Symphony and will be glad to hear again this charming composition, which, although it is filled with that remarkable Russian melancholic sentiment, contains more gleams of humor than the other symphonies produced by the same composer.

When Tschalkowsky was at the age of 37 he met a lady his senior by nearly ten years, who, for the next thirteen years, was destined to play the part of a fairy god-mother in his life. Nadejda von Nock early in life had married a railway engineer who had amassed a large fortune and left her a widow with eleven children in 1876. A great lover of music, a woman of strong and sane intellect, with an excellent head for business, she cared nothing for society and lived an extremely secluded existence. She was, however, passionately fond of music and learned many particulars about the private life of Tschalkowsky, whom she greatly admired as a composer.

Madame von Nock heard of Tschalkowsky's poverty and of his periods of nervousness and depression. At first, she restricted her philanthropy to the offer of one or two small commissions, for which, however, she paid the composer on so liberal a scale that he could not fail to suspect a charity in disguise. Finally, with tact and delicacy, she persuaded Tschalkowsky to accept a yearly allowance which permitted him to devote his time entirely to composition. One of the first fruits of this friendship was the Fourth Symphony, dedicated to "My Best Friend."

The second work on the program for Tuesday evening, Italian Capriccio, is of unadorned gaiety and abounds in striking effects. It is written in one of the composer's rare veins of happiness and serenity.

The concert will be concluded with the Slavonic March. Tschalkowsky was born in 1840, the son of a mine inspector, and died in 1895 at St. Petersburg.

"Girls Should Not Play Football, Box Or Motorcycle," Asserts Dr. Letitia Fairchild, Warime Medical Officer To Royal Air Force Girls Of Britain

London, Nov. 19.—"Girls need of these lessons in the playing field as much as the masculine sex, and we have the same need of games as aids to our health. Not only do I advocate games, but they should be continued whenever possible in adult life. The fears of people who about thirty years ago were startled by the evolution in the modern girl were unfounded. There has been a decrease in the fatalities connected with childbirth. The birth rate has increased, and the mothers of those fine babies and even the grandmothers have been strenuous players of hockey and other games."

This is the opinion of Dr. Letitia Fairchild, who during the war was medical officer to the Royal Air Force girls, many of whom came under her inspection. Dr. Fairchild contributed some bright remarks to a discussion on "Games for Girls" that followed a meeting by the Medicoval Officers of Schools' Association.

"Football is growing more popular among women, especially in the north of England," said Dr. Fairchild, "and I think that women should be warned against its unsuitability, for it results in considerable strain not incurred in many other games. Motorcycling and boxing have also great disadvantages for women."

There is another feature to Chinese New Year that shows improvement over the Western idea. The holiday lasts for three weeks, thus giving ample time to recover from the initial celebration. Business is not always suspended for the entire length of the period, but at least it is not up to its normal gait and is better suited to the pace of the post-holiday headache.

China may not know the joys of being swaddled in serpentine, or getting confetti down its neck, or brushing strange faces with a feather duster, or having horns blown in its ears, but as long as the supply of red fire-crackers, red candles, red garments and red inscriptions for lintels holds out, she will manage to struggle through the next geological epoch or two.

MODERN SCIENCE CONTROLS PLAGUE

French Doctor Believes Frontiers Can Be Closed When Epidemics Threaten

Paris, Nov. 12.—The spread of epidemic in Russia in the wake of the great famine does not threaten Western Europe, in the opinion of Dr. Roux, head of the Pasteur Institute. Medical science has made such progress that epidemics can be checked and great catclysms such as visited Europe in the middle ages can be averted.

"I believe," said Dr. Roux, "that we know enough about such epidemics as typhus and cholera to protect our frontiers. Germany and Poland are the countries which face the greatest task, as they are in the first line, and in their hands mainly lies the responsibility for the security of Western Europe."

"The best course open to the nations of Western Europe is to associate themselves with the international relief work already on foot, and particularly to keep close watch along the Russian-Polish frontier."

"Refugees who are infected or may be bearers of germs should be thoroughly cleansed and suspected cases should be kept under surveillance for a certain period. Typhus is only carried by lice, and plague by fleas, and once these are removed, the victim is no longer a source of danger to his neighbors."

"As for cholera, vaccination is an effective preventative. It rendered great service during the war to the Greek, Rumanian and French armies in the Near East. Typhus vaccination cannot be very widely used, as no method has yet been found of breeding the typhus microbe and the serum must be taken from infected persons, which, of course, limits the amount of serum available."

There will be a brief address by Dr. Luther Freeman and the assembly will then await the stroke of midnight. The program begins at 8:30 o'clock and a hearty invitation to attend is extended.

Mars Must Wait For Radio Phone, Marconi Asserts

London, Nov. 26.—The men of Mars, if there are any, will have to wait patiently for some time before they get any wireless telephonic communication from us according to Signor Marconi, the inventor. He said that short waves would be necessary and that they would have to be sent out by a station having a capacity of at least a million horse power, and we have nothing approaching that yet.

But there is a mysterious agency working to aid man in his efforts to flash his thoughts great distances. Prof. J. Fleming, a scientist and inventor connected with University College, explains the fact that wireless signals traveling from 6,000 to 12,000 miles are many times stronger than those traveling short distances by saying that this can be accounted for only by the presence of conducting layers floating hundreds of miles above us. He says it is logical that waves would not cling to the earth, but it is now believed that the great strength of distant signals is due to the presence of this conducting layer in the upper regions of the atmosphere.

ENVELOPS EARTH Prof. Fleming says the layer completely envelops the earth and as the radio waves move outward they strike it and are reflected and guided around it in a sort of gigantic wireless speaking tube, through which man can whisper radio secrets to the Antipodes.

without being overheard by listeners on other planets. He declares this is an immense boon to humanity, for otherwise long distance wirelessness would require the expenditure of such vast amounts of energy that it would be commercially impracticable.

Prof. Fleming holds that long communication is impossible with the moon because she has no conducting screen. He has a theory regarding the nature of this screen, which, he says, is caused by electrified dust thrown from the sun. He has photographs of these dust clouds departing. He says the pressure of light is strong enough to overpower the backward gravitation action, with the result that particles of this dust continue their long journey earthward through empty space, travelling at great velocity, until they reach the outposts of our atmosphere, where they are stopped by friction. According to Prof. Fleming every particle of this dust bears an electric charge so powerful that a mere handful would propel the largest liner a whole day.

Long distance waves measure about ten miles and can be handled by a conducting screen. Signor Marconi, backing up Prof. Fleming, said the screen would not hinder the progress of shorter waves, but likewise would not help them, with the result that a tremendous generating power would be needed.

Neither of these scientists would hazard a guess on the possibilities of communication with other planets in the face of the discoveries.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent, or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent, or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen! We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Neither do we hesitate to say that many of these infantile deaths are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Drops, tinctures and soothing syrups soft for children's complaints contain more or less opium, or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they stupefy and retard circulation and lead to congestions, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse. It causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever.

The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria.

Physicians Recommend Castoria.

"I have used your Castoria in cases of all children and have found it the best medicine of its kind on the market."
J. E. SHAWSON, M. D., Chicago, Ill.
"Castoria is good for children and I frequently prescribe it, and always obtain the desired result."
J. G. SMALL, M.D., Boston, N. Y.
"I have prescribed Castoria for children for several years. It is all right. I use it like it, for children will take it without trouble."
C. A. WATSON, M. D., St. Louis, Mo.
"Your Castoria is a splendid remedy for children. I know the world over. I use it in my practice and have no hesitancy in recommending it for the complete relief of infants and children."

Detroit, Dec. 2.—Washington and Jefferson was recognized today as the Eastern collegiate football champion when the committee in charge of the Tournament of Roses at Pasadena officially asked the Presidents to play the Intercollegiate New Year's Day game there. Tentative approaches regarding a game at Pasadena had been made some days ago, but the formal offer did not arrive until the Presidents had left Washington for the Michigan invasion.

Johnson Beats Capt. Barrett At Billiards, 800-426

Mr. R. C. K. Johnson concluded the second round of the Shanghai Amateur Billiards championship play last night when he defeated Capt. E. I. M. Barrett at the Shanghai Club in a match that bordered upon the exhibition style of play for its brilliancy and its interest. The final count was 800-426.

The match was concluded in two hours and 15 minutes. It was the quickest played in the present tournament. The winner scored the biggest break made in tournament play in the last two years—a 145. He went to the table but 50 times. His average was 16, brought up by breaks, aside from his 145, of 80, 50, and many 10's and 30's.

Capt. Barrett started off in brilliant fashion. At 100 he was leading Johnson by a full 40. The latter however by his all around play overtook the score, using a losing hazard to the side pocket off the red ball to particular advantage. Barrett's best break was 59.

Last night's match leaves but four of the original 16 starters in the tournament. Messrs. Johnson, Porter, Bush and Campos. The semi-finals will find Porter and Bush playing together, while Johnson opposes Campos. No date has yet been set for the next round of play.

Winter Coast League Suffers Heavy Loss

Nearly $50,000 was lost by the owners of the clubs in the new California Winter Basketball League during the ten weeks of the season, which closed December 6. Lack of patronage is the reason given.

PUB. SCHOOL AND FEARON DANIELS FIVES WINNERS

The Shanghai Public School and Fearon Daniels basketball teams climbed up a notch or two in the league standings last night by their wins over the Bowside 20-17, and the Anderson Meyer Co. five, 28-19, respectively. The School team occupies fourth place this morning and the Fearon Daniels five is fourth from the cellar.

The first game last night was a rushing, hard-played affair with several suggestions of roughness on the part of either team, but after the final score was told it was agreed that the aggressiveness of both sides was but mere healthy basketball work. Levis and Johnson starred for the School while honors were fairly even for the Bowside.

The second game found the Anderson Meyer outfit short about three of its regular men. The team however recruited from the side lines and went to it. They played the youngest team in the league to the smallest first-half score, 8-5, that has yet been counted this season, but in the second half Sheldon and Dennison got to scoring and they piled up points rapidly. Armstrong did much to save his team from a swamping, but in spite of Johnson's and Phillips' good work he was always far behind.

Standings in the basketball league this morning are changed about because of the announcement made yesterday by Capt. Kay, of the Fearon Daniel team that his five have been extended the privilege of playing off the two matches defaulted early in the schedule by the Standard Oil team. The readjustment gives Fearon Daniels two less losses, and detracts one technical win each from the American Trading Co. and the Bowside of the Rowing Club. The games, Mr. Kay writes will be played off at the earliest opportunity.

The scores follow:
Public School 20 Bowside 17
Levis LF Bell
Johnson RF Nash
Remedios C Smith
Brockett IG Gattrell
Caccia RG Atkinson

Goals from floor—Levis 5, Johnson 4, Remedios 1, Bell 3, Nash 2, Gattrell 2.

Goals from fouls—Gattrell 1, Time—Two 20-min. periods. Referee—Snider and Kline.

Fear. Daniel 28 And. Mey. Co. 19

Goals from floor—Dennison 3.

RECS WILL FIGHT TODAY IN HOPES OF TAKING LEAD

Should the Shanghai Football Club lose their match this afternoon with the Customs club they will be toppled from the lead in the league to second place, maybe in sole possession of the berth and maybe tied with the Engineers.

It all depends on the outcome of the match between the Recs and the Engineers. The latter are now tied for first position with the Club. Should the Recs beat the Customs, the table will read: Recs 1, Club 2, and Engineers 3.

The Recs are turning out a strong lineup for the match at Hongkew this afternoon. Much depends upon the match, and a supreme effort will be made to win. Many concede that the Club will beat the Customs, and that the Engineers will win over the Recs, but one never can tell so early in the season, and tomorrow morning might see a table of standings quite different from today.

Another interesting match in the first division is that between the Police and the Xaviers, tied now in fourth position with five points each.

The following players have been announced:

Football Club—A. Phillips, W. J. Brown, P. Isherwood, F. Shaffer, J. Robertson, M. Seredkin, B. Lawrie-Smith, L. Goldman, G. F. Forshaw, T. E. Hammond, and L. J. Coulcher.

St. Xavier's—F. Pettersen, P. Oliveros, F. K. Wittack, C. Mackenzie, H. Johnson, E. Schneider, McDonald, Aldegeour, Terdy, L. Almeida, R. Favacho. Reserve: E. Rose.

Engineers—A. McLean, H. C. Rowson, T. W. R. Wilson, V.

Nichols 1, Sheldon 10, Johnson 1, Armstrong 6, Phillips 2.

Shanghai College Playing Nanyang For College Title

Game At Yangtzepoo Today Is Classic Of Eastern China Schools

The final game in the East China Intercollegiate Athletic Association football championship series will be played this afternoon on the Shanghai College field at 2 o'clock, between Shanghai College and Nanyang College. It will be a game of great interest, inasmuch as it will decide the East China Intercollegiate championship, at least if Shanghai College wins.

If Shanghai College loses a three cornered tie may have to be played off, although Shanghai College has a better record than any other school, having so far defeated St. John's University 1-0, Soochow University 2-0, as well as the National Southeastern University 5-0, Hangchow Christian College 7-0, and claiming a win from Nanking University, the latter refusing to play at the time regularly scheduled. Shanghai College has not been scored against so far.

Nanyang College has been defeated by St. John's University 1-0 and drew in a no score game with Nanking University; defeated Soochow University 3-2 and also defeated the National Southeastern University 6-0.

It looks as if Shanghai College had considerably the best chance of winning. It is rumored, however, that Nanyang College is working day and night to get their team into shape for this afternoon. They have also reorganized the team, changing the forward line considerably. But this afternoon will see which team wins.

If Nanyang College wins, either Shanghai College will have to be declared the champion on the grounds that she has a better record and higher percentage than any other school, or else other games will have to be played between St. John's, Nanyang and Shanghai College.

Tickets Go Fast For Charity Ball

At a meeting of the General Committee of the Royal Society of St. George held on Thursday, the honorary treasurer reported that during the past year the Society had disbursed in charity $5,587 which had caused an overdraft with the bank of $3,425. It is hoped that the proceeds from the charity dance to be held on "Twelfth Night" will liquidate a large portion of this amount. There are only a few tickets now available for the dance but the subscription list for those not attending the dance has no limit and subscriptions will be gladly received by the honorary secretary of the Charity Dance Sub-Committee, 4 Poochow Road.

Sporting Editor's Letter Box

The Sporting Editor, CHINA PRESS Dear Sir—I noticed in the columns of your sporting section this morning the letter of the Manager of Fuhian's football team. This letter contains a statement to the effect that Fuhian's football management sent two registered letters to St. John's University to arrange a date for a game, and that neither of these letters was answered.

As far as I am aware this is not a correct statement, and as it is calculated to create a false impression that St. John's is seeking to evade a fixture with Fuhian we would request that you allow us space for the following reply:

St. John's originally proposed December 21 for the date of the Fuhian game. This letter was not answered for several days, owing perhaps to the fact that the Fuhian team was about that time in Nanking. After the Nanyang-St. John's game on December 17 I talked with the Director of Athletics at Fuhian over the phone. He told me then that owing to certain private difficulties at Fuhian, he did not think that Fuhian would be able to play St. John's at all. This was confirmed at once by letter.

Immediately thereafter, we received another letter from the Director of Athletics saying that Fuhian would play, but could not play on December 21, as Fuhian was to play Soochow on December 24. Subsequently a registered letter was received from the Manager of the Fuhian team declining to play on December 21 and asking St. John's to play on Jan. 4.

It is true that this letter has never been answered, and it has not been answered because the date proposed is after the close of the intercollegiate season which concludes on Jan. 1. Thus it was thought best to leave the matter in abeyance until after the Baptist-Nanyang game on Dec. 31, and then to refer the matter to the Football Committee. It only remains to be said that St. John's could offer no date between Dec. 24 and Jan. 1 owing to the fact that St. John's is closed for Christmas Holidays during that period.

It seems regrettable that Fuhian has not been able to play off more intercollegiate games, but St. John's is in no way responsible for the creation of the unfortunate situation in which Fuhian finds itself.

Thanking you for this space, I am very truly yours,

WILLIAM S. A. POTT, Chairman, Faculty Committee on Athletics, St. John's University, December 30, 1921.

CANADIAN RUGBY UNION TITLE WON BY ARGONAUTS XV.

Toronto, Ontario.—The Argonauts, champions of the Inter-Provincial Rugby Union and eliminators of the University of Toronto and Parkdale Canoe Club, champions of the Inter-collegiate and Ontario Football Unions respectively, won the Canadian senior championship here Saturday by defeating the Edmonton Eskimos by a score of 23 to 0 in the first championship match between teams representing eastern and western Canada.

The Edmonton team won the Alberta championship and then defeated the Victorias of Winnipeg, Manitoba, who had disposed of the Saskatchewan winners.

The game marked an epoch in Canadian football. In addition to it being the first appearance of a western championship team in the competition for the Canadian championship and the Grey Cup, it was the culmination of an effort that has been going on for years to have all the various football organizations in the country affiliated with the Canadian Rugby Union and all playing under one set of rules.

In past years there has been more or less variation in the various sets of playing rules with the result that teams in the Canadian championship series were not always playing under the same rules as those under which they won their league titles.

The Argonauts completed the season with nine victories and no defeats, scoring 226 points to their opponents' 55, and this is a new record in Canadian football both in number of games won and the number of points scored by the team. Without doubt the Argonauts are the greatest team that has been produced in the last decade in this country if not since the start of the game.

Women Hold The Key To Cut Cost Of Living

"The Housewife Should Go Over Her Year's Household Log, Take Note Of Certain American Extravagances And Plan A New Method Of Feeding Family At Less Expense," Says Dr. Winifred Sackville Stoner, Economist And Editor

BY WINIFRED VAN DUZER

The low price of living rests in the capable hands of the housewife. The woman who rules the domestic world should go over her year's household log, take note of certain extravagances, and plan a new method of feeding her family at a fraction of past expense.

"It all is so simple as to be overlooked by us. French women know the secret. Let us learn from them."

This was the statement of Dr. Winifred Sackville Stoner when I talked with her about the still high prices of foods.

Dr. Stoner, besides being originator of the "Natural Education Method" for children, psychologist and educationist, is a domestic science expert. As editor of a magazine having to do with management of the home, she has given much study to preparation and serving of food.

She said: "We American women are comparatively indolent. Instead of taking our baskets to market where we might make selection of freshest and most desirable food stuffs, we resort to the telephone."

"The butcher or grocer thereupon sends us whatever he chooses. Naturally he adds something for cost of delivery wagons, horse-feed and clerk-hire."

"Furthermore the average woman, especially the city housewife, is glad to pay more for foods put up in such manner as to save her the trouble of cooking."

"You have only to count the city block, to prove this. Yet most of us know that foods bought in bulk are many times more nutritious, better flavored and less expensive, although they require long cooking."

I asked Dr. Stoner if it is true that American women thoughtlessly or ignorantly throw away each day the makings of the next day's meals.

She quoted the old saying about the American garbage pail containing enough to feed a family. She said that in the economically managed kitchens there are no remnants or scraps, and continued:

"The most delicious of all soups can be made from scraps of meats and vegetables. When a roast has been eaten, the bones still contain nutriment which boiling will bring out. The chicken skeleton should be put into the soup kettle. Soups are economical and nutritious."

"In every good sized family there should be bones, meat scraps and vegetable trimmings sufficient to provide a daily supply of soup."

"Such scraps also can be utilized in croquettes and meat balls most advantageously."

Breads are another item of waste in our households. Rolls from the day before, the extra slices of bread cut for a meal—all of these too often are tossed into that garbage can.

"Now the fact is that most elaborate desserts can be made of these same odds and ends of stale bread with a bit of inexpensive sauce."

"Or they may be fried in the oven and used for breading chops of vegetables."

"Few housewives know that rolls, dampened slightly and put into the oven will come out as if freshly baked."

Dr. Stoner said that we overlook another chance for economy by not substituting fish for meat. Water foods, she explained, might be moved from the place of entry to that of the main body of the meal.

She went on: "Fish or even eggs and vegetables are much more palatable fried in meat drippings instead of lard or butter. This is a reason for conserving fats from meats. They may be strained and put away in labeled jars."

As a final word of household economy, Dr. Stoner advised "club buying." A number of women living in a neighborhood may go in together on purchases of foodstuffs in quantity, thus benefiting by bulk prices.

UP the ladder of fame and down the path of infamy went Laura Figliani, traveling on her beauty and her power to fascinate men. That was her reputation. What is yours??

SHE fanned the devil-fires in men and laughed at hallowed women. She lived a lie and died a lie—yet not unforgotten—Because of her reputation.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

December 30, 1921

Spot bar silver was unchanged and forward down 1-8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price was unchanged at 65 cents, and the London-New York cross rate improved to 420 1/2.

The only changes in the official quotations here today were a raise in the Franc rate to 920, and in the Hongkong rate to 73.

The market from the opening was on the easy side today.

In the early morning, there were sellers of Sterling at 3-6 1/2 for December, 3-6 1/2 for January, and 3-5 1/2 for February.

There were Gold Dollar sellers at 75 December, 74 for January, and 73 1/2 for February.

However, these rates did not last long and, in the early part of the forenoon, the best sellers of Sterling were offering 3-6 1/2 for December, 3-6 1/2 for January, and 3-5 1/2 for February.

Gold Dollar sellers at the same time were offering 74 1/2 for December, 73 1/2 for January, and 72 1/2 for February.

Late in the afternoon, the market steadied somewhat and closed fairly steady, with sellers of Sterling for December at 3-6 1/2, for January at 3-6 1/2, and for February at 3-5 1/2. At the same time, there were sellers of Gold Dollars for December at 74 1/2, for January at 73 1/2, and for February at 72 1/2.

The London and New York silver markets are reported as being quiet, undertone uncertain.

Coal Market

The market during the week has experienced no change. Unlike other commodities, prices of coal are not affected every week, and conditions prevailing today are the same as at the beginning of the month.

Local stocks of coal are put down at 400,000 tons, the same as at the end of last month. The market in Japan is steady especially in dust coal.

The importation of coal into Shanghai during November amounted to 162,000 tons. Compared with the end of October, the present stocks show a decrease.

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their coal market report:

Japan Coal.—The market has been very dull since last writing and there has been practically nothing doing as most of the regular consumers have now settled their requirements for next year. In Japan the market continues firm.

Fushun Coal.—No change. Fuchung Anthracite.—Since last writing the principal contracts for next year's supplies have been settled at rates slightly under those ruling for this year. Stocks on the spot are being kept up to the average and deliveries are proceeding briskly.

Kaiping Coal.—Practically all contracts have been renewed at slightly below this year's rates. Owing to a big demand in the North and Japan prices remain firm and supplies for this port are limited.

Arrivals from Chinwangtao have been fairly large and the major portion has passed into consumption.

Freight Market

Messrs. Wheelock and Company write as follows in their freight market report:

The situation in our outward freight markets is as follows:

To United Kingdom and Continent.—There is no change to report on this berth since last writing and the export trade remains as "lifeless" as ever in spite of the recent reduction in freights on certain commodities.

To United States Overland and via Canals: The same dearth of cargo exists on these berths as on the London berth and except for a certain amount of tea still moving via the Canals there is no general cargo worth mentioning.

Coastwise.—There is no change for the better since last writing, in fact, our Northern market remains stagnant and no improvement can be expected in the near future.

REPUTATION.—Something that you don't have to lose before you realize its value.

REPUTATION.—worth as much to any man as to every woman—and that's a good deal.

The Week's Market Report

In their weekly report on the Shanghai Piece-Goods Trade, Messrs. Noel, Murray and Company write as follows:

Cotton.—The last quotations from Liverpool are those of the 23rd inst., when there was very little change from those of the previous week, Spot Good Middlings being 10.87d., January 11.04d. and March 11d. Bengals were unaltered at 8.25d. and Egyptians were up to 21d. During the past few days there has been a strong rise in Bombay and today's quotation for Broach is Rs. 530 April/May. In New York on the 27th, Spot cotton was quoted 19.05 cents, January 18.81, May 18.31 and July 17.87 cents.

Local Market.—A better tone has prevailed and all the centers have helped themselves, so far as ability to finance has allowed. Stocks everywhere are small; in Tientsin it is said there are only about 2,500 packages in godowns of Cotton piece goods of all descriptions.

Financial.—The stock of silver has been replenished by arrivals and it now stands at Tls. 26,936,000 and $22,600,000 in all the banks of which the natives hold Tls. 7,700,000 and $13,300,000.

Yarn.—Another busy week has to be recorded for the local mills, who have disposed of 17,100 bales of yarn mostly for delivery during the January-March period. Prices have advanced from 5 to 9 Taels over those last paid. The retailers also have taken 4,500 bales for resale in bundles and their asking prices have been raised from 3 to 7 Taels. Of Indian yarn 600 bales have been sold.

ROSENFELD REPORT

In their cotton market report, Messrs. A. B. Rosenfeld and Son write as follows:

China Cotton.—Throughout the week the market displayed a steady tendency and ends at a net advance of 150 points. The chief feature of the market has been the covering of short commitments at the "Exchanges," apparently induced by the bullish "Yarn" situation which was made the object of extensive advertising by the local bull clique. In the meantime, the extreme stringency of cash money prevailing throughout the cotton belt continues to impede the marketing of the crop. Various attempts have been made to belittle the significance of this factor on the future course of prices, and although various spot markets have advanced, our reports indicate that there is a fairly general desire to sell in the up-country marts, cotton being offered for cash as much as a couple of taels below the quoted market price.

Under the circumstances, therefore, it would seem as if the chances are rather against the market, and while with sentiment more divided sharp fluctuations may occur at any time, we think the most profitable policy will be to take advantage of firm markets to sell.

Yarn.—The cotton yarn situation has improved considerably. Some 9,000 bales of local spinings changed hands at an advance of Tls. 7.00 for export to Szechuen, Southern and Northern Ports. Over 13,000 bales direct booking with our Domestic Mills is recorded at an advance of Tls. 6 to 7 from the last low level. Considering conditions generally, the position of the China product is very healthy, especially so as consuming centers are practically bare of stocks. We cannot see, therefore, how prices can decline, if there is a change it will be towards an improvement particularly so after the Chinese New Year.

SPUNT AND COMPANY

Messrs. J. Spunt and Company write as follows in their cotton report.

China Cotton.—Although the past week was a short one owing to the holidays intervening yet the activity displayed, during the few working days, outdistanced by far the volume of business transacted during the previous period and a general firmness pervaded our market with an advancing tendency at the close. What with the rise and firmness in the Indian Markets and the steadiness in Mid-America, it is quite natural that such circumstances should influence prices on the local staple making it appear inevitable that the advance of the Season will eventually bring buyers into contact with an increasingly strong and confident class of holders. The outlook at this time is bullish and it, therefore, behooves those in need of supplies either for present or future requirements to avail themselves of any temporary reaction that may take place from now until over the Chinese New Year holidays. Tone of the market, Firm.

Does Japan Mean To Attack?

ed that Japan meant to fling Russia out of Port Arthur and Manchuria. I went to Japan to discover if the Government were preparing to fight Russia, and could find out nothing. It was pleasant and easy to wander amid the crowded streets and public offices of Tokio, to linger in the temples of Kyoto, or to go north and stroll through the wonderful avenues of cryptomerias by Nikko; but, alike in the crowded office and seaports and in the vivid country-side, the Japanese gave a smiling welcome and told nothing. They kept their secrets from the stranger.

Over on the Asiatic mainland at Port Arthur, I found the Russian fleet lying under the Golden Hill, in the very formation in which the Japanese destroyers afterwards attacked it. The Russian officers talked lightly of war, and only a few seniors looked grave. Once, at midnight, I encountered General

"Is war coming?" I asked him. "I hope not," he said, "but who can tell? Look over there!"

He pointed southward through the darkness toward Port Arthur. A storm had broken and flashes of lightning were playing over the fortress. It was an omen. This time again we cannot foresee what may happen. The danger is that when two great nations get at loggerheads no human effort can prevent a collision after a certain stage is passed.

Although there are firebrands in the United States, as in all countries, the American nation as a whole has not the smallest desire to fight Japan. In any case, it would be madness for the United States to precipitate war within the next five years. There can only be war if Japan is the aggressor; but, politically, Japan is quite incalculable.

able. The Japanese are a military nation, controlled by a powerful group of soldiers and seamen, who possess all real authority. The Parliament is make-believe, the Cabinet exists on sufferance and the War Office guides foreign policy.

The mainspring of Japan's aims is economic, but it is reinforced by soaring ambitions. Japan cannot now feed herself and wants room for her surplus population overseas. Her own islands are cultivated to the last inch, as one may see by the tiny fields cut out of the hillsides. She would like to dominate China and to attain an undisputed sway in the Pacific. In the background looms her colossal desire to be supreme in Asia, as Germany wanted to be supreme in Europe.

The policy of the United States cuts right athwart these aspirations. Americans take an intense interest in the welfare of China, and will never willingly consent to see the huge markets of China pass under exclusive Japanese influence.

The Philippine Islands lie in the middle of the China Sea, and no long as the Stars and Stripes fly over them Japan can never dominate the Pacific. The mutual ill-feeling about the position of the Japanese in California, where they own a great deal of land, is by comparison a minor factor, though an acute source of bitterness, and always a possible pretext for war.

The true cause of difference is that neither in China nor in the Pacific Ocean can Japan attempt to develop an aggressive policy without incurring the hostility of a hundred million Americans.

Will she take such a risk? Some shrewd observers think she may.

Every expert admits that Japan could seize the Philippines in a week.

The United States has built battlehips, but she has no adequate naval bases in the Pacific Ocean. Her fleet is far stronger than that of Japan, but she cannot bring it into action on the other side of the Pacific.

It would be extraordinarily difficult even for the American battleship squadrons now in the Pacific to engage the Japanese fleet far from their own shores. They would be courting disaster because they have no fortified places of shelter in which to seek refuge.

If the United States created a great naval base at the Island of Guam, 1,500 miles east of the Philippines, and built a chain of subsidiary bases on other islands, the position might be entirely altered in a few years. But will Japan wait while the American nation makes its position in the Pacific secure? We shall know before another twelve months are over.

My own conviction is that Japan will in the end come to grief if she goes to war. The Americans would fight to recover their lost possessions, if it took them a quarter of a century. Sooner or later they would turn the tables. Others think differently, and believe that if the Japanese took the Philippines and the other American islands they would never be dislodged.

This discussion is not academic or fanciful. There are strong presumptive reasons for thinking the Japanese military party, which holds nearly all the reins of power, may decide to stake everything on warlike action just as the Germans did in 1914. If they do, we shall see the world ablaze again.

The present Emperor of Japan is suffering from a mortal illness, and there may be changes when he dies; but to me it seems unlikely that the Japanese Liberals can grasp the authority now wielded by the military party. What is far more probable is that if the other powers concerned put their cards on the table at Washington, the militant Japanese leaders, who will remain behind the scenes, may shrink back from the gulf into which they now seem not unwilling to plunge.

I have written in vain if I have not made it clear that the policy of the United States is conceived in the loftiest spirit, and simply but resolutely opposes aggression on either sea or land. British policy is in this respect identical. Our part is that of the peacemaker. Japan is our ally, but for defense and not for conquest.

In our own interest we are bound to do our utmost to exercise a restraining hand, because if Japan engaged in war her wanton recklessness might have a disturbing effect upon India and the Middle East, the consequences of which none can foresee.

The Washington Conference is bound to have an immense influence on the welfare of the human race for the next fifty years. In England we have not yet grasped what it may mean. If it succeeds it will bring about far more than a limitation of armaments. If it fails or is bungled, a Color War may follow which may give a death-blow to the stricken world around us.

and was obliged to accept this group's general program.

It cannot, furthermore, be denied that the rules of the Consortium are in harmony with the principles enunciated by that organization and with the diplomatic principle of the "Open Door." Consequently the Consortium plan is favorable rather than detrimental to China's interests.

OPPOSE MONOPOLY

When the Consortium was formed the Chinese Minister of Finance was opposed to any plan that might be construed as leading to the establishment of a foreign monopoly. The foreign banking groups did not, however, attempt to break down his opposition. On the contrary, it was clearly specified that no obligation should in the future limit the national sovereignty of the

Bankers Now Demanding Guarantees From China

(Special To The China Press)

Paris, Dec. 26.—The diplomatic tactics of the Chinese delegates at Washington have been especially interesting as far as they concern China's financial situation. China unquestionably appreciates her need of foreign capital and is evidently looking for a way to make such investments possible, while on the other hand she is making just as strong efforts to eliminate all discussions regarding security for such credits.

The principal objects of the financial discussions to date have, accordingly, been to define the nature of the powers which shall be given to the Consortium bankers charged with placing and administering the credits granted to the Chinese Government and to the Chinese industry.

Failure of the Chinese Government to meet its financial obligations, such as occurred only recently, will inevitably carry with it international intervention in China's financial administration with a view to ensuring the payment of principal and interest on the loans that China requires from abroad.

GUARANTEES ESSENTIAL

It goes without saying that the foreign bankers who act as intermediaries between China and their own financial markets are morally bound to require stringent guarantees for the credits which they may negotiate. The situation is the same in China's case as in the cases of the Latin-American States which apply to European or American financial markets for loans. If these countries are not to expose their creditors to the risk of losing either their interest or their capital, or both, they cannot avoid submitting to foreign control of their customs revenues or permitting representatives of their creditors to exercise supervision over their financial affairs.

According to the Journal of Commerce (New York), the Chinese delegates are not opposed to the Consortium's continuing to carry on its work, for they realize that, without this international assistance, China would certainly have been brought under the domination of Japan. Various leading Chinese hold the opinion that Japan's claims in Manchuria and Mongolia became less urgent and thus less dangerous from the moment that Japan entered the International Banking Consortium

Hunanese Split On
Constitution Plans

(Chung Mei News Agency)
Peking, Dec. 27.—According to reports received from Changsha the first of January will see the promulgation of the provisional constitution of Hunan. This is the logical outcome of the self-government movement on the part of the Hunanese and the steps that have been taken by the provincial assembly to adopt a constitution for that province. Some time ago a committee was appointed by the assembly to draft the articles of the constitution to be promulgated.

Trouble is expected, however, on the first of January between the People's Party, supporting the constitution, and the militarists who oppose it. Chao Heng-ti, military governor and commander-in-chief, is said to be very strong in his opposition.

CHIHLI SUPPORT FOR NEW CABINET
BOUGHT BY LIANG

(Chung Mei News Agency)
Peking, Dec. 27.—That the support of Generals Tsao Kun and Wu Pei-fu for the new cabinet under the premiership of Liang Shih-yi was obtained by compliance with two conditions, was the information received from reliable sources today.

It was stated that the Chihli party demanded that Kao Ling-wel, former minister of finance and present minister of the interior, be retained in the new cabinet in some capacity and that Liang Shih-yi make some definite promise in regard to the payment to General Wu Pei-fu of the money necessary for the arrears of salary due to his military forces. General Wu had formerly demanded $12,000,000 to make these payments but the old administration was unable to advance him the money and Premier Liang has now promised half of this sum to the Chihli general, or $6,000,000.

The opposition of Tsao Kun, and particularly of Wu Pei-fu, to the formation of a cabinet under Liang Shih-yi was withdrawn by the granting of these two conditions and their support is consequently temporarily behind the newly installed cabinet. If the $6,000,000 is paid as promised, Wu Pei-fu agrees not to oppose the ministry but if this money is not forth coming the Chihli party may well withdraw its support. It would consequently appear that the cabinet rather than being a coalition body was purely the result of compromise.

Parted By Ambition

Constance
Talmadge
and her husband

That Constance Talmadge, film star, has been separated for several weeks from her wealthy husband, John P. Talmadge, was admitted by her in Los Angeles. The trouble culminated a month ago in this city when she flatly refused to accede to her husband's demand that she give up the screen. That ended the romance that ten months ago united in marriage the youngest of the three Talmadge sisters to the wealthy Greek tobacco importer. Miss Talmadge made this statement: "There is no other man or woman between us. We quickly arranged our parting. We just couldn't get along. My husband is not of the theater world. He could not understand my going away off to California to appear in the pictures. Perhaps he could not understand because he is a foreigner and I am an American. Besides, as I have discovered, our temperaments are entirely different. He wanted me to give up my movie career. But I cherish that career as I do life itself. He wanted me to give it up and merge my individuality with his. Of course I refused." Miss Talmadge is at the home of her sister, Natalie, Mrs. Buster Keaton, in Los Angeles.

Birth Of Christ
Tableau To Be Given
By Siccawei School

On Christmas afternoon, the Representation of the Mystery of the Birth of Christ, with "Tableaux Vivants" and carols interspersed, was exhibited by the smaller pupils of Siccawei College, before a small gathering.

The wanderings of Mary and Joseph in search of a dwelling and the trimming of the Crib for the newborn Babe were done with perfect ease and naturalness. Then came the Apparition of the Angels with their happy tidings to the shepherds, and the pilgrimage to the Crib with their presents, all carried on in good measure to the strains of old Christmas carols. But the most interesting of all the items was the Kings' arrival—a Charlemagne with flowing beard attended with pages and noblemen, a negro followed by dancers and exotic animal tapers, a Chinese Emperor of the Han dynasty in the genuine raiment of the period, crackers booming the while.

The representation by the 80 small players was executed with such ease, gravity and faith-feeling that the attendance earnestly asked that a second representation be given for the public.

This second show will take place on Sunday, at 3:30 p.m., in the College Central Hall.

The price of the tickets is $2.00, and the proceeds will be allotted to the missionaries of Kiangsai for the famine districts. The tickets may be had at the door.

Japanese Consider
Quadruple Entente

(Eastern News Agency)
Tokio, Dec. 29.—The last meeting of the cabinet this year was held at the official residence of the premier today. Premier Viscount Takahashi and all the Cabinet Ministers attended and conferred on the policy for the Dairen conference and Shantung questions in view of the changing political situation in the Far East. Special emphasis was given the attitude of Japan on the quadruple entente which will be placed before the commission on foreign affairs tomorrow.

TO SHOW FILMS
OF ROAD MAKING
IN FAMINE AREA

Moving pictures of the road building operations undertaken in North China during the recent famine period, when 856 miles of highway were constructed by famine labor under the direction of the American Red Cross, will be shown at the Y.M.C.A. Monday at 9:15 p.m. at a meeting arranged by the Shanghai branch of the American Red Cross.

The pictures will be shown and explained by Dr. W. W. Peter, a member of the China Central Committee, under whose direction the films were made, and the meeting will serve the double purpose of making known the work which the Red Cross has done and furthering the good roads idea. It will be open to the public and no admission charge will be made.

The North China road building was supervised by a large number of missionaries and business men who volunteered their services. The labor employed numbered 145,000 men and raised was thus afforded to approximately 841,000 persons.

Hankow Breweries
Quit Because Of
Too Much Squeeze

(China Press Correspondence)
Hankow, Dec. 28.—Some fifty native breweries and wholesale wine merchants will stop operations and close their shops beginning with tomorrow, a general strike having been decided upon at a recent meeting held in the Hankow Wine Guild. The strike was planned as a protest against the increase in wine taxes by General Wu Pei-fu's agents, who are squeezing the wine trade in Hankow in order to please their master.

Wine merchants in Hankow have been murmuring against exorbitant taxation by militarists for several weeks, and seeing that officials are bent upon placing additional burdens on the wine trade, they find the only way out of the trouble is to close their breweries and shops and let the trade be stifled by highhanded taxation. Nearly all breweries in Hankow have gradually curtailed their daily output, and as soon as a limited stock is disposed of, no more will be produced in Hankow during the period of strike.

Heavy losses are being sustained by wine merchants here by stopping their business at this time. Their petitions to provincial authorities and the Provincial Wine Revenue department have been unheeded and unanswered save the insinuation that the new tariff is to be put in force at any cost.
